IMPORTANT ACCOUNT INFORMATION

The information below updates our Account Agreement for Personal Checking, Savings and Money Market Accounts ("Agreement"). All other information in our Agreement continues to apply to your account. Please read this information and retain it with your records. The updated information appears in various places throughout the Agreement: the updates are included here in order of their appearance. (NOTE: The "Deposits" section of your Agreement has been rearranged and edited slightly for minor grammar or formatting issues, but the content has not changed, with the exception of the new Third Paragraph):

We reserve the right to make adjustments, by debiting or crediting your Account, for computational, transactional, or other errors related to your Account. We may remove funds from your Account when we make adjustments.

Notice and Crediting of Certain Electronic Credits (Third Paragraph):

When we process incoming fund transfers, we routinely rely on the account number given to us by the financial institutions or other persons who send the fund transfers to us. We will have no duty to determine if the account number provided to us is consistent with the name or other information given to us, and we will not be liable to you if we credit a fund transfer intended for you to another customer's account because the sender instructed us to credit an incorrect account number, or if we adjust your Account to remove the proceeds of a funds transfer or transfers incorrectly credited to your Account.

Interest (First Paragraph):

Interest will be calculated on your interest-bearing Account and credited directly to your Account as stated in the section titled "Interest Payment and Balance Computation." We set interest rates at our discretion. We reserve the right to set interest rates based on the account, account type, customer, customer relationship, or channel in which the Account is opened. Your interest rate and annual percentage yield may change. At our discretion, we may change the interest rate(s) and Annual Percentage Yield(s) on your Account at any time without notice to you. If you desire current interest rate and annual percentage yield information, please call or visit any branch in your market.

Statements (Second and Third Paragraphs, replacing prior Second Paragraph):

This statement will list all activity that relates to your Account during the statement period and any other information required by law. Upon receipt, you should review your statement carefully. You should keep accurate records of all your transactions, but you should examine your statement for out-of-sequence check numbers, checks payable to cash, repeat check numbers, balance discrepancies, or unexpected fluctuations. Your statement is considered correct, and we will not be liable for payments made and charged to your Account unless you notify us of an error or other irregularity, including unauthorized payment, within 30 calendar days of the delivery date of the earliest statement describing the charge or deposit to your account. Please note: If the same person has made two or more unauthorized transactions and you fail to notify us of the first one within this 30-day period, we will not be responsible for unauthorized transactions made by the same person.

You should take special care to review all checks listed on your statement. Printed statements provide the date, check number, and amount of most checks. You should also visually inspect checks to confirm that none of the information on them has been modified, including but not limited to your signature, the date, the amount, and the name of the person or entity you intended to pay. Most checks can be visually reviewed through PNC's Online Banking. Alternatively, you may request photocopies or image copies of checks paid against the Account (or other Account documentation), provided that such checks or documents are available to us under our record retention policies. These requests are subject to any applicable charges set forth in the or IRA or other tax-deferred retirement accounts, unless permitted by applicable law) now or hereafter owing to us by you, either individually or jointly, including husband and wife, may be charged in whole or in part to the Account or to any other individual or joint accounts in your name to the extent permitted by law.

"Adverse Claims" is replaced by "Disputes" and "Restricting Access to Your Account".

Disputes:

If we become aware of a Dispute related to your Account, you agree that we may take action to address the Dispute without advance notice or any liability to you. Examples of a "Dispute" include, but are not limited to, a claim against your Account or some or all of the funds in it, a conflict among owners and/or authorized signers on your Account, a dispute over authority to act on your Account, and an assertion of fraudulent, unauthorized or unlawful activity on your Account.

While we are not required to take action in the event of a Dispute, and may continue to rely on information already on file regarding authority to act on your Account, we may take action including, but not limited to: honoring the Dispute if we believe it is valid; placing a hold on your Account or some or all of the funds in it; closing your Account and sending a check made out to you or you and any person or entity claiming an interest in the funds; or initiating legal proceedings, in which PNC may be entitled to recover reasonable attorney's fees and costs, to resolve the Dispute.

Restricting Access to Your Account:

You agree that we may place a hold on your Account or some or all of the funds in your Account, or delay, decline or prevent transactions, without prior notice or any liability to you if we detect irregular activity, including but not limited to activity we suspect to be fraudulent, unauthorized or unlawful. We may hold funds and/or restrict transactions until our questions about any activity are resolved or we are directed by court order. We may also remove the funds on hold from your Account. You agree that, in addition to placing a hold, we may return any disputed funds or remove the funds on hold from your Account. In addition to our right of set off, we have the right to debit your Account or any of your other Accounts in the amount of a returned transfer, without prior notice, when any disputed amount has been returned. Unless applicable law provides otherwise, PNC is not obliged to provide an explanation addressing why a hold has been placed.

If you receive payment from us for an item, you agree that we may place a hold on your Account in order to investigate a claim that the item contains a forged endorsement or alteration. If, after a reasonable investigation, we find that the item contains a forged endorsement or alteration, we may charge your Account for the face value of the item.

Reporting Negative Information to Consumer Reporting Agencies:

(NOTE: This section formerly titled "Reporting negative information to credit bureaus: Disputing Reported Information" remains the same except that "credit bureaus", where the phrase appears in the title and body of this section, has been replaced with "consumer reporting agencies").

Consumer Electronic Banking Agreement; Section "In case of errors or questions about your Electronic Transfers" (Fourth paragraph, following sentence ending "...in writing within 10 business days" and preceding subsection titled "Special Rules for New Accounts"):

We will determine whether an error occurred within 10 business days after we hear from you and will correct any error promptly. If we need more time, however, we may take up to 45 calendar days, (for PIN point-of-sale transactions and/or Non-PIN transactions up to 90 calendar days) to investigate your complaint or question. If we decide to do this, we will provisionally credit your account within 10 business days for the amount you think is in error, so that you will have the use of the money during the time it takes us to complete our investigation.
